Grinding Belts come in different colors depending on the type of grinding media used and also the type of coating or cooling material used. The colors also vary by manufacturer. FPD offers three different grinding media belts. Aluminum Oxide belts, Zirconium Oxide belts and Ceramic oxide based belts. The Zirconia based belts are ideal for grinding steel and aluminum materials. The most durable belts are the Ceramic base belts. Choice of grit depends on the type of job and desired finish. Coarser Grit is indicated by lower numbers.

Buffing Compounds are for use when sharpening or polishing tools. The compounds are applied by using cotton wheels, sisal wheels or felt wheels. Compounds are offered in different colors to differentiate grits and also the oxide used in their formulation. Gray compounds have a coarse grit and are recommended for blending in grinding marks. White compounds are of a medium grit and are used for the final polishing process. Green compounds are chromium oxide based and are of very fine grit, they are highly recommended for the final polishing and sharpening step for cutting tools and especially very hard steels and stainless.

Vettec has announced a change in their dating system to guarantee the quality of their products. Under the new protocols of the dating system, Vettec will now guarantee the product for 18 months from the date shown on the package. While the product is typically good past that date, prolonged exposure to heat will shorten the shelf life of any chemical. Here's an easy way to read their dating system. The first digit represents the year of manufacture (e.g. 9 = 2009; 0 = 2010). The next three digits represent the day of the year of manufacture (e.g. 001 = January 1; 181 = June 30; 349 = December 15). The last two letters are an internal Vettec coding and should be disregarded. Please rotate your stock.
